👤 MORE ABOUT ME

A versatile digital designer, content creator, proficient in front-end web development and print design.
I am able to produce work to a high standard in commercially competitive environments and committed to exploring new ideas, tools and practices.

My background is in drawing and illustration.
I studied at the "Institute of Art" School of Fine Art, Design and Sculpture in Italy where I honed my illustration skills and discovered a passion for web and graphic design.

I worked on websites and print materials in Italy before moving to the UK. Graphic expression is my passion and I love to experiment with new techniques and influences from the art, music, cinema and graphic novels that inevitably flow into my work.

In the past few years I've designed for the web, motion graphics, short commercial videos and printing commercial material.

When I'm not scouring the web, I'm spending quality time with my girlfriend and juggling between sports, books, cinema and graphic novels.
